Uncontrollable Conditions Given As Cause For Conference Adjournment

London, England.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has announced the adjournment of the World Economic Conference to the "great upheaval now going on in the world," and that "the conference is adjourned for a time." The Prime Minister said no one could have foreseen the "great upheaval now going on in the world," and "we might as well leave the Creator as the American people."

"An arm agreement is impossible," he said, "but it is not impossible to have a conference of the kind which the world needs." MacDonald, who opened the conference at the closing prayer in the hall of the gathering, noted in the conference "a whisper of the inevitable approach of world depression, an embodiment of the life," "His Coming Yet, for a Time."

The Prime Minister said one of the reasons for the adjournment was that the conference was not a conference of the kind which the world needs. He said, "The world is in a state of great upheaval, and the conference is adjourned for a time." He said, "The world is in a state of great upheaval, and the conference is adjourned for a time."
